Reach Business Leaders as a SIOP Leading Edge Consortium Partner

Do you need a simple, smart method of reaching influential professionals? Become a 2018 SIOP Leading Edge Consortium partner!

With this great opportunity, you can reach attendees with your organization's offers for high potential talent initiatives and programs.

An expected 250-300 senior and mid-level leaders will be attending, seeking knowledge, practices, tools, and resources to help them solve challenges related to high potential talent.

If you can solve their problems with your business solutions, you should be there, too.

Visit the LEC Home Page, view the partnership prospectus to see the remaining opportunities, and then place your order today to reserve your spot on this exclusive list!

If you have questions, email Jayne Tegge at JTege@siop.org.

Planning a Proposal for the 2019 SIOP Conference?

It's time to start thinking about submissions!

The Call for Proposals should be released the week of July 23, 2018. The deadline for submissions will be September 12, 2018 at 5:00 p.m. EDT.

The program committee has painstakingly reviewed and updated the annual Call for Proposals. Every year there are some minor changes made to increase the quality of the submissions.

For example, this year the roundtable format has been replaced by IGNITE sessions. Were you planning a roundtable? The CFP will tell you how you can still get your proposal reviewed under the new rules!

Remember, you must pay your SIOP dues to submit. Only members in good standing may submit conference proposals. Pay your dues now to make accessing the online system easier when your proposal is ready.

Congratulations to Our Early Bird Winners!

SIOP understands that finances can be tight for Student Affiliates and wanted to help by offering an early bird renewal drawing, exclusively for students.

Over 500 students were entered in our drawing, simply for renewing their dues by June 15. SIOP is happy to announce the three lucky students that won free registration for the 34th Annual SIOP Conference.

The Winners are:

- Kara DeAngelis, a MA student at Elmhurst College;
- Sheri Maxwell, a PhD student at Walden University;
- and Drake Van Egdom, an incoming PhD student at University of Houston.

We congratulate all three of our winners and look forward to seeing them at the Conference.

SIOP Wins 2018 Gold Circle Award

SIOP is excited to be recognized by ASAE with a 2018 Gold Circle Award in the Sponsorship/Exhibits/Advertising category. The campaign was dedicated to the 2017 SIOP Annual Conference Partnership Program Revamp.

The Gold Circle Awards competition is the premier association marketing, membership, and communications award. It recognizes excellence, innovation, and achievement in association/nonprofit marketing, membership, and communications programs. This year’s competition received more than 183 entries across 15 categories, including convention/meeting campaign, member retention campaign, print magazine, and video.

“This award recognizes associations who are effectively including elements of creativity, design, technology, and metrics,” said ASAE President and CEO John H. Graham IV, FASAE, CAE. “Marketing, membership, and communications plays an important role for associations – it’s the primary means for sharing information with members and staff as well as branding the organization to the global community. Congratulations!”

Entries for the Gold Circle Awards competition are judged consistently in each category based on criteria established by the ASAE Gold Circle Award Committee for excellence in association marketing, membership, and communications programs.

How Do You Use I-O Psychology Every Day?

We asked SIOP members to start a conversation about their daily triumphs and how they contribute to the ever-growing community of I-O psychologists.

Many of our responses shed light on how I-O can be used to solve business problems and how I-O work benefits business. Check out some of the responses below!

Join the conversation! Post your I-O story on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn using #IamSIOP.

Getting Results With I-O

Working on a large challenge for your organizations? I-O psychologists are using their skills every day to solve business problems in their own organizations.

On social media, we posed questions about what SIOP members needed to learn or improve upon, what challenges they’re working on right now, and what new I-O solution their organization expects to source in the coming year.

Check out what some of our members had to say. Join the conversation! Share your story using #IOResults on Twitter, Facebook, or LinkedIn.
New White Paper Analyzes Trends in Preemployment

A lot has changed in the preemployment assessment world within the last 10-12 years. A new SIOP White Paper explores how advances in technology have changed the way companies select new hires.

"Recent Trends in Preemployment Assessment" by Jessica M. Walker and Don Moretti, is part of the SIOP Visibility Committee’s Hot Topics White Paper Series. This report introduces prominent preemployment assessment trends and weighs the pros and cons of the trends.

See a listing of all the SIOP white papers here. Additional Science of HR papers produced in cooperation with the Society for Human Resource Management are available here.

Dunnette Prize Video Coming Soon

SIOP and the SIOP Foundation recently awarded the prestigious Dunnette Prize to Dr. Thomas J. Bouchard, Jr., Professor Emeritus, University of Minnesota and leader of the landmark 20-year Minnesota Study of Twins Raised Apart (MISTRA), which established the importance of genetic influences on a wide range of individual difference variables.

A video recording of his prize winning address at the 33rd Annual Conference will be available in mid-August. To receive direct notification about the debut showing and subsequent availability of the video and its accompanying information, please click here.

Allen and Weiner Elected as APA Representatives

The election results are in for the American Psychological Association (APA) Council of Representatives!

SIOP is pleased to announce that Fellows Tammy D. Allen, Distinguished University Professor of Psychology at the University of South Florida, and Sara P. Weiner, an independent consultant based in Tucson, Arizona, have been elected to serve as APA Council Representatives for Division 14.

Allen and Weiner begin their terms on January 1, 2019, replacing Georgia Chao and Gary Latham, whose terms expire at the end of this year. SIOP’s APA Representatives also serve on the SIOP Executive Board.

Read more about Allen and Weiner here.
Focus on the Foundation:
Nomination Deadline Extended for Two Awards

The nomination deadlines for the new Graen Grant for Student Research on the Development of New Professional Knowledge Workers and the SIOP Distinguished Service Contributions Award have been extended to the end of this month.

The Graen Grant is an exciting new offering that provides support for research on knowledge economy workers. The grant requirements emphasize practical research applications and encourage the use of design thinking. The maximum award is $3,000, and the grant, which can be used in conjunction with other funding for a larger scale project, is open to SIOP Student Affiliates. Learn more about the Graen Grant here.

The Distinguished Service Contributions Award recognizes SIOP members who have given sustained, significant, and outstanding service to the organization. This is a particularly good way to recognize and celebrate the contributions of those who have served on committees, task forces, or as SIOP’s representative to other organizations. The award carries a $1,500 prize.

Learn more about the award here. Then reflect on the importance of volunteerism to SIOP and nominate a colleague who has given generously of their time and talent in support of the organization and the profession.

All submissions must be made online by July 31, 2018. Learn more about SIOP and SIOP Foundation awards here.
