

Select the Competencies Needed for Success

A customized competency assessment provides personality insights for successful selection decisions and employee development plans.

IPAT's 16PF® Competency Report is a targeted measure of the specific qualities and attributes that are needed for success in a particular role. From our model of 20 competencies, you can choose the competencies that most closely describe the role, or we can work with you to determine the strengths the organization – and the job – require.

Help your managers select and develop the people they need to achieve their organizational objectives – every time.
